Spirituality and Money

with Paul Rosati, Spiritual Director, Psychotherapist, and former Banker (Director of New Business Take On with a consortium of three major banks)

Can we have money and still be “spiritual”?
What are the spiritual principles behind having it more abundantly?

Join us to explore an issue that affects us all...

“Money and spirituality may seem different or separate, but they really are not. Money is energy directed in a certain way to bring abundance. (Though sometimes its acquisition has unanticipated results.) Spirituality is the pursuit of enlightenment through living from one’s ‘core essence’ and understanding the guiding principles in the universe. Both money and spirituality involve the direction of energy in the form of human thought, emotion and physical action.”

That may sound a bit strange coming from a former banker, but Paul Rosati isn’t your traditional “bean counter.” In fact, he believes that the world is full of abundance; it moves toward abundance naturally; and this is one of life’s guiding principles. Join us as Paul explores the essence of money, how to acquire it spiritually, and how to integrate it into a rich, full life. He will also talk about his personal experiences (including what led him to change careers) and some of his own tools for success.

About Our Guest:

Paul Rosati has lived in Toronto almost all of his life and loves it. He graduated from the University of Toronto’s Rotman School of Business with an MBA in the early 1970s and then began his career in Banking. Spending 37 years in this field gained him experience in Investment Banking, Operations, Systems Development and Human Resources. He ended his banking career as the Director of New Business Take On for a consortium of Canada’s three major banks.

Upon retiring Paul enrolled in the Spiritual Psychotherapy and Spiritual Director Program at the Transformational Arts College of Spiritual and Holistic Training. He now conducts his own private practice as a spiritual director, psychotherapist and Reiki practitioner in Etobicoke. Paul and his wife also created their own Real Estate Investment business which they continue to operate today. They have been married for 42 years, have two children and two grandchildren.
